

DID YOU KNOW...?

Issue 13

...Maybe diamonds are forever, but glass surface treatments are not! Distributors of “nanotechnology” claim their products to be ‘permanent’ – which is highly misleading and raises expectations to levels that cannot possibly be met.

According to the Oxford Dictionary, ‘permanent’ means “lasting indefinitely”. No exterior surface treatment will last forever, especially the “nano” products which are easily removed by pressure washing, and do not have track records proving long-term performance and durability under all types of environmental conditions.

The ClearShield® “non-stick” glass surface protection is market leader, and is well-proven for almost 30 years to be Number One in performance and durability. ClearShield® not only stands up to pressure washing, but passes the ‘test of time’ under all types of environmental conditions around the world.
